SUMMARY

---

Over the past decade I gained a multitude of design experiences ranging from mediums such as photography to graphic and web design. I have traditional training from Brooks Institute of Photography, as well as real world experience creating content for magazines, website advertisements, and email media. Over the past few years my focus has shifted towards the professional advancement in fullstack web development. I oversaw a modern redesign of a large scale online ecommerce web application while maintaining and updating a legacy code base.
